

What's wrong with AB 2855?

AB 2855 is excessive, burdensome and unnecessary. It overreaches in two ways:

- It would require all charities to include a “prominent link” to the Attorney General’s website on their website home page, AND
- It would require that any “document produced by, or on behalf of, a charity for the solicitation for charitable purposes” must include a link to the Attorney General’s website.

Taken together, AB 2855 would require every charity to include what amounts to a “warning label” on their website and nearly every document they produce redirecting donors and others to the state’s top law enforcement’s website. Every invoice from a preschool, every invitation to a pancake breakfast, every email with a “donate now” link, every letter about symphony tickets, every newsletter, flyer, and so forth, from any nonprofit would be affected. It’s also problematic for online services such as Facebook, Instagram and Twitter where users do not control the headings or the order of what is displayed. Out of state charities may have a very difficult time customizing the content of their emails to Californians who are on their lists.

Mandating content in this way would be expensive and burdensome, and would detrimentally interfere with nonprofits’ ability to communicate with their constituents and the public.

When they say charity, what does that include?

Here’s how the California Attorney General defines a charity: “If the organization is classified as a California nonprofit public benefit corporation or has received federal tax exemption under Internal Revenue Code section 501(c)(3), it is a charity. Under the traditional common law definition, charitable purposes include relief from poverty, advancement of education, religion and other purposes beneficial to the community.” This includes food banks, community arts organizations, pet rescue groups, community foundations and others.

But shouldn’t nonprofits be transparent?

Of course. In fact, California nonprofits are already required to disclose financial information, salaries, programmatic accomplishments, percentages spent on fundraising and on administration, and much more. The federally required documents are readily available to the public free at www.guidestar.org. The California Attorney General provides easy online access to the California forms of nonprofits and a notice of whether a nonprofit is up-to-date on all its filings. In fact, the analysis of the bill conducted by the policy committee notes multiple disclosures already required including tax-exempt status and percentages of requested gifts that would be tax-deductible as well as limitations on fundraising expenses. This bill adds unnecessary requirements which impugn an already highly transparent community.

CalNonprofits supports transparency and disclosure that is meaningful and we support strong enforcement. Of the four bills referenced in the AB 2855 policy committee analysis, CalNonprofits supported three.

CalNonprofits worked with Assemblymember Irwin and Attorney General Harris on last year’s AB 556 which strengthened disclosure requirements for charity fundraisers and established a longer statute of limitations for enforcement against fraud.

Similarly, CalNonprofits worked with Assemblymember Feuer on AB 2327 and did not oppose its enhanced penalties for violations of the Nonprofit Integrity Act and designation of AG authority to suspend charitable registrations of organizations in violation.

CalNonprofits also supported SB 2015 by Senator Sher in 2000 which increased the AG’s enforcement reach including imposition of late fees, suspension, revocation and ability to impose criminal penalties against charities for violations of the Uniform Supervision of Trustees for Charitable Purposes Act.

How much will AB 2855 cost California?

This bill would be expensive for the State of California. The Office of the Attorney General would be tasked with turning AB 2855’s vague requirements into regulations, enforcing those regulations by monitoring the websites and solicitations of the more than 70,000 charities in California alone, not to mention nonprofits from anywhere in the world who solicit donations from supporters residing in California. Also, since AB 2855 raises constitutional issues, the AG’s Office will have to defend the state in likely litigation. All this could add up to a hefty price tag for the state and taxpayers. And of course AB 2855 saddles all of the state’s charities – big, medium and small – with a harmful and confusing disclosure requirement, adding to their costs of doing business and taking time and resources away from their delivery of services to Californians in need or in crisis and jeopardizing donations thanks to AB 2855’s suggestion of wrong-doing by conscientious organizations.

Who opposes AB2855?

More than six hundred organizations oppose AB 2855, including the United Ways of California, California State Parks Foundation, State Humane Association of California, the Nature Conservancy, the Humane Society of the United States, League of California Community Foundations, Habitat for Humanity, California Association of Museums, California Professional Firefighters, California Arts Advocates, the American Heart Association, California Association of Food Banks and California’s leading grant-making associations.
